BANGALORE

Bangalore is the principal administrative, commercial and industrial centre of Karnataka State. Situated in the south eastern quadrant of the State at 12°8, north latitude and 77°37' longitude at an altitude of 920 meters (3021 feet) above sea level, including all the extensions.

History :

Bangalore was founded by Kempe Gowda-1 in 1537 A.D. With the permission of the then Vijayanagar Emperor, he erected a strong mud fort and constructed Gavi Gangadhareswara temple at Gavipuram and Basava Temple at Basavangudi. He predicted a great future for the town and actually built four watch-towers at four elevated points around the town prophesying the extent to which the city would grow. The city has grown far beyond the limits visualised by him.

Climate :

Bangalore is endowed by nature with a very salubrious and equable climate. The mean temperature in the warmest month (April) is 27.1°C (80.88F) and in the coldest month (January) it is 20.48C (68.8F). The maximum temperature during the day rarely exceeds 34°C (93.8F) in summer (April, May) and the minimum seldom falls below 15.5° (60 F) on winter nights (December February). The atmosphere is neither too humid nor too dry.

Rainfall :

Bangalore receives the benefit of the South West and North East monsoons. The average annual rainfall is 87 centimetres. October and November are rainy months. Occasional rains occur during, June, July and August. December to March is practically dry.

City Administration :

The administration of the city vests with the Corporation of the City of Bangalore, constituted under the City of Bangalore Municipal Corporation Act LXIX of 1949.

Population :

The increase in population of Bangalore is very rapid since 1955. From 10 lakhs in 1935, it went up to 20 lakhs in 1970 and it is estimated to have crossed 32 lakhs today.

Languages :

The main languages spoken are : Kannada 31% Tamil 27%; Telugu 17%: Hindustani/Urdu 15%; other languages 10%.

Cultural Activities :

Bangalore is an important centre for cultural, religious and social activities. Some institutions arrange periodical exhibitions, recitals, dramas, music and dance performances, lectures, symposia and group discussions that entertain and educate. Some of the daily programmes appear under 'In the City To-day', in Deccan Herald, Indian Express, The Hindu, The Times and some Kannada dailies.

Every Friday evenings (6-30 p. m) Cultural programmes are arranged at the State Youth Centre, Nrupa-thunga Road, Bangalore-1
